

Success In Acquisitions and Procurement

Intelligence analysts have been employing analysis software for some time. As technology rapidly advances, challenges emerge surrounding the acquisition processes. A priority for the Roundtable is making improvements to acquisition and procurement frameworks and policy within the government market.

Change can bring cost savings, efficiencies, and better technology and solutions at a more rapid pace for both government and industry.

The Acquisition Working Group is looking to learn “what’s working, what’s not, and what specific improvements would matter most.” The Working Group advances studies, surveys, and activities on behalf of Technology & Innovation Roundtable members.

Acquisition Working Group Activities

- Provide valuable input to the Section 809 Panel on analytic and analysis software and data solutions
- Conduct industry acquisitions studies
- Conduct government acquisition studies
